Disciple Notes

Learn to Resist Temptation

Most of us assume that as we get older, we will feel the tug of temptation much less than in our younger years. In other words, if we just hang on, we will overcome. Now we an overcome, but it is not because we outlive temptation’s pull. There are times in our Christian life when our heart desires things that are not in the best interest of our families, our church, and ourselves, but we can say “no,” even though it is difficult at the moment. However, when we do discipline ourselves to say “no,” there will always be positive results.

As Christians, we want to be strong, but there are times when temptation seems stronger. All of us need some practical instruction on how to cope with temptation. James gives us that practical instruction in his epistle. James 1:13-18 gives us some insight about how temptation works in our lives and why it is so potentially dangerous. More importantly, it teaches us how we can say “no.”

Hope to see you in our services Sunday as we continue our new series: Living Life on God’s Terms.

God bless you,
Charlie
